A Recap And Questions

Today's story shows the power of visualization. Before we get to it I have some questions for you that will bring more value to today's segment.

What's your vision of success? Stop for a moment. Visualize it.

Why is this so important? Visualizing your success is essential for you to attain it.

Without a vision of what you want your future to look like you are aiming at nothing. And, as you know, when you aim at nothing you will hit it with amazing accuracy.

Put the power of visualization to work for you. See the future you want and desire. Practice seeing it every day.

1. What are three areas where a clearer vision would help you? List.

2. Create a vision of what success would look like in each one of these areas. How would it look?

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____

3. What will you commit to do in each one of these areas?

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____

4. What will be your time line for completion in each?

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____

Remember what Napoleon Hill, the author of Think And Grow Rich, said. "What the mind can conceive and believe, it can achieve."

Your road to success is first created by visualizing it. Take the time to dream. Take the time to visualize. You will gain clarity. With clarity, when the right things come your way you will recognize them and get involved. On the other hand, when the wrong things come your way you will know to avoid them.

Visualize your road to success and pave it with your dreams and vision.
